Shapeable OLED Aiming at Lighting Market

By PIDA

Lighting is a key element in any interior or exterior space, and it is also a key element in any smart home. The market for smart lighting is growing rapidly, and it is expected to reach $1.5 billion by 2020. This growth is driven by the increasing demand for smart homes and the increasing availability of smart lighting products. One of the most promising technologies in smart lighting is shapeable OLED. Shapeable OLED is a type of OLED that can be bent and curved into various shapes, making it ideal for use in smart lighting. It is also more energy-efficient than traditional lighting, and it has a longer lifespan. Shapeable OLED is currently being used in a variety of smart lighting products, including smart light bulbs, smart light strips, and smart light panels. As the market for smart lighting continues to grow, shapeable OLED is expected to become a key technology in smart lighting.
